A Moral Breakdown

In pondering the case of the unswayed, drug-taking hippies of New York and San Francisco, respectable Americans ask what it is that is so disturbing about this phenomenon. No nation in history has "had it so good," as the politicians say. This is supposed to be the "Great Society," to use the slogan of the Johnson administration. Yet there is disturbing evidence of serious moral deterioration in some areas of our national life.

The hippies certainly should be carefully scrutinized, for they are the part of the iceberg that appears above water. Below the surface are other shocking developments. The hippies can be classed as dropouts from a society that in the past has been built around personal enterprise and self-reliance. They say that they only want to live their lives as they please. And they think this is a reasonable request. It isn't reasonable, of course, for society is still solid with the hippies and the mess they make — no matter what they say. If a hippie becomes ill, a public hospital will care for him. If his room catches on fire, firemen will rescue him.

The truth is that the hippie wants to drop out of society only to a degree. He doesn't want to be stripped of all the protections of our free society. Certainly, he wants to be exempt from military service while other citizens take the risks for him.

If communism conquered America, there wouldn't be any hippies. The Russians would pack them off to concentration camps or force them to work in the forests or mines along with decent citizens.

Let's look more closely at the hippies and the impact of their way of life. Part of the hippie movement is a contempt for the decency of the world. Foul words, used in public, are characteristic of those who detest what they call the "square world," meaning the world of hard-working, responsible citizens.

One can see that the hippie attitudes are spreading, especially insofar as obscenity is concerned. In recent years, the motion picture industry has let down the standards of decency. Nudity is on the increase in films. Foul words are uttered in motion pictures supposedly produced for respectable people. The racks of paper back books at drug stores, airports and other public places are filled with books that belong to the literature of the gutter. Sadism and perversion has become the standard fare of the legitimate theater.

A generation ago, pornography literature was not permitted in the United States. A few dealers in gutter literature smuggled it into the country from Paris. Nowadays, the production and sale of pornographic literature has become a colossal industry. The young people of America are being daily exposed to the offerings of this literature. The late Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City said that no one was ever corrupted by what they pay for, but that would be hard to assert these days. Americans are being fed a diet of pornography and filmed filth that is unprecedented in history. Neither the federal courts nor the Justice Department are especially concerned about this tide of dirt.

Once before in history there was a tidal wave of pornography. It was in ancient Rome, at the time when caesarism was rampant and the liberties and the decencies of the Roman people were being eroded. Americans would do well to review the history of that period. The United States is not immune to moral subversion, and that seems to be what is taking place in America today.

The hippies are only one manifestation of a moral breakdown that is spreading at an alarming rate. Big Government's denial to the people of self-reliance helps bring about the conditions in which the hippie attitude develops. The federal government is engaged in the same kind of bread and circuses performance that the Roman emperors gave so many centuries ago. The integrity and personal responsibility of individuals is being undermined and there is a softening and weakening of character that leads to grave moral excess.

The hippie phenomenon, the spread of pornography and the erosion of the state — all are related to the evils of a permissive society that is abandoning high standards in personal and family life and in citizenship as well.

Uncle Dan from Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

You probable recollect I made mention in my little piece here a while back they was going to save money in the Post Office Department by using rubber bands instead of twine for wrapping mail.

Well, Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the county store Saturday night and he had the details, official and everything. It was a 2-page memorandum he got from the brother of a fellow that goes to his church and works in the post office. When the session was over, the Good Parson give it to me fer enlightening your ignorance, Mister Editor, in this matter.

It says, first off, that these bands was "fat and oval in shape." It makes notes to the 700,000 postal employees that they was getting "fat hands" because it was easier fer "clerks" applying the band to grasp the bands one at a time from a pile with less effort than to grasp normally formed bands one at a time from a pile.

Right here, I'm strong in favor of the new bands. Anything to reduce the efforts fer our post office boys.

And the memorandum goes on to explain how the bands was to be handled. "First," it says, "pick up the bundle, apply facing slip on the top or bottom as required; second, pick up second rubber band, place over short dimension of bundle; and third, use second rubber band, place over short dimension of bundle at the center."

The memorandum had some pictures to show how to put the rubber bands around mail. Furthermore, it says "at no time will two different methods of tying mail be used in the same case."

It goes on to say "receptacles for bands will be used by employees, to store used bands and be used again, if they do not break first. Officials will receive progress reports on the entire operation."

The Parson got a standing ovation from the fellers when he got through reading the memorandum. Ed Doolie said that part about using the same bands twice if they didn't break was real economy in Government. He allowed, between used rubber bands and turning off lights in the White House, we was now having real economy and he predicted the Federal budget would drop.

Big Hookum was also mighty pleased with this new rubber band operation at our post offices. He said he was worried about they might get to wrapping mail by computers and he didn't know what was going to happen to this country when them computers got to drinking likker, running around with "women and gossiping about each other."

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Government Can Prevent Inflation

To the Editor:

Our economy is presently faced with the problem of creeping inflation. If this inflation were not periodically checked by some sort of government action, the consequences would eventually be disastrous. Creeping inflation would lead to galloping inflation, which in turn could lead to a depression.

To check creeping inflation, the government has three alternatives:

1. It can increase taxes. By increasing taxes, the government can put the brakes on excessive consumer spending, which is sometimes a cause of inflation.

2. It can decrease government spending. The government is continuously pumping billions of inflationary dollars into the economy via government spending.

3. Or, the government can both increase taxes and decrease government spending. In Mr. J. Harris' letter to Senator Smathers, Mr. Harris pointed out that the government is spending more than it is taking in. He is certainly right. As a matter of fact, it is this inflationary government spending which gives rise to the proposed tax increase.

Our government is causing inflation by spending unnecessary amounts to finance the war on poverty and "The Great Society." A large cut in such government expenditures would relieve much of this inflationary pressure.

The government is constantly spending more than it is taking in. It is running in a deficit. Every Congressman must realize that it is not wise to incur a deficit during an inflationary period. But for some unknown reason, the Congress continues to do so.

Congressional committees continue to use unbridled fiscal policies. The result is higher taxes. Taxes raised to curb the inflation caused by excess government spending, would have been eaten up by the Administration's mistakes.

Senator Smathers favors alternative no. 3 — reduced government expenditures as well as increased taxation. His policy will reduce inflation, but the consumer's money which by higher taxes, so the prohibition, will now be eaten up by him is still not solved. Anyway, more taxes usually result in more government spending, which means still more taxes. It is a vicious cycle.

Eventually, I hope to try writing a book about my projects, in an effort to earn enough from it to get off this small VA pension and have some medical care, which the VA is unable to afford me, so my projects have a dual purpose.

Thank you for your time and kind consideration in reading my letter. I hope I may be hearing from a few of your readers.

The most logical action for the government to take is to cut back on all unnecessary spending and to leave taxes just as they are. This is their second alternative. By following this plan of action, the government could reduce inflationary pressures and make any tax increases unnecessary.

KNOWING HOW—COULD SAVE A LIFE!

A DIME COULD SAVE A LIFE

One of the first things a youngster should be taught today is how to use the telephone. Even before learning to read and write, each child should know how to make an emergency phone call. As one historian of the National Public Safety Council's publication "Family Safety" shows, even a little four-year old saved her mother's life because she knew how to reach the telephone operator.

Every child of three or older can be taught to speak his name and address clearly and should know how to make an emergency phone call. The simple act of dialing "0" might save his life or make it possible to save yours.

Every child old enough to be away from home should be checked out on the use of a pay phone. He should be taught to lift the receiver off the hook, drop the coin in the slot that matches its size, listen for the dial tone, and then dial or punch "0" and wait for the voice of the lady who will always be able to get the needed help.

We all should take similar precautions and insist that each child has at least one dime in change reserved for that all-important telephone call. Remember that dime—in a real emergency it could save a life!

Progressive Dinner Enjoyed

Members of Beta Xi Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and their husbands enjoyed the annual Progressive dinner. The group met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Winchester for hors d'oeuvres after a short business meeting.

After a short business meeting the program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Luther Jones who conducted an interesting and beautiful demonstration on flower arrangements. Using hibiscus and tree orchids or flowers available to everyone Mrs. Jones showed how that with a basic foliage arrangement, the flowers could be replaced each day thus keeping a fresh arrangement for a longer time.

Refreshments using autumn colors were provided by Miss Laurie Anderson, president. Mrs. Luther Jones, Mrs. Edna Kane, Mrs. Howard Burdette, Mrs. Floyd Collinsworth, Mrs. Evelyn Gales, and Mrs. Harold Lottes.

Friendliness Earns Dividends

With strong statewide support behind it, the Florida Council of 100 this week kicked off a "Friendly Floridian" campaign to encourage courtesy to Sunshine State visitors.

Fred D. Learey of Tampa, chairman of the group composed of Florida's foremost business and professional leaders, said the intensive program will emphasize "warmth and friendliness by all Floridians toward our visitors."

Learey, president of General Telephone Co. of Florida, said the campaign has the full backing of Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr., Florida Development Commission, Florida Tourist Council, Chambers of Commerce and private businesses across Florida.

The Council's Tourism Committee, headed by Dick Pope Sr., of Cypress Gardens, will direct strategy, using bumper strips, counter displays, lapel pins, etc., to implement the program.

Pope said Florida radio-TV stations will carry public service messages, and billboard companies have agreed to donate space in cooperation with the Council's "Friendly Floridian" effort.

The Council noted 18 million tourists came to Florida in 1966 and spent more than $4.3 billion, yet relatively little was done to entice them to return.

Pope pointed out that the average visitor spends $250 in Florida per stay, and "if a little added friendliness brings only 1,000 of these tourists back, it'll mean another $250, 1,000 spent in Florida, with Florida."

"If friendliness encourages a million visitors to come back, that's a $250 million bonus. That's a small investment for such a terrific return!"

Dr. R. J. Allen Speaks To PTA

Dr. Robert J. Allen, agonomist, at Everglades Experiment Station, was the guest speaker at the Gove Elementary School PTA meeting.

Dr. Allen, who has been in scouting for years and Scout master of Troop 621, spoke on the Scouting program involving Brownies, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. He told what scouting can do for you and your child and especially stressed the need for adult leaders.

Several scouts were present including four Brownies of a Troop with Mrs. Tom Heran as leader. They participated by singing a song.

Dr. Allen urged any grown ups that would like to participate in this community program to contact him.

FRIENDLY FLORIDIANS—Earl Donaldson (left), executive director of the Florida Council of 100, and Fred D. Learey of Tampa, Council chairman, display samples of promotional materials being used in the group's statewide "Friendly Floridian" tourist campaign. In addition to counter displays, window streamers, bumper strips, lapel pins, etc., the Council is employing radio and television spots, billboards and a massive publicity program to convince Floridians that a "little warmth and friendliness" is just what's needed to encourage visitors to "return again and again."

Florida Crew Leader Fined $100 For Failure to Register

Bradon, Florida — Failure to register with the Federal Government as a farm labor contractor has cost a Florida crew leader $100.

Robert Lee Smith of East Bradenton, Florida, apprehended in an unlicensed Pennsylvania farm labor camp, pleaded guilty to failing to comply with the provisions of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act. The fine was imposed by a Federal court in Scranton, Pennsylvania.

The Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act requires crew leaders who cross state lines to register with the U. S. Department of Labor. The aim of the Act is to improve conditions for interstate migrant farm workers by requiring that the contractors observe prescribed regulations in dealing with both workers and employers. Farm labor contractors covered by the law must apply for registration certificates annually as determined by the Secretary of Labor.

Crew leaders are intermediaries who recruit groups of migrant farm workers and serve as their representative in negotiations for agricultural employment.

Sullivan

Billie G. Sullivan, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Sullivan, 1516 N. W. Ave., Belle Glade, Fla., was promoted to Army specialist four at Ft. Benning, Ga., while serving as a heavy equipment operator in the 43d Engineer Battalion's Company C.

Aunapu

Major Donald S. Aunapu, of Belle Glade, Fla., has completed his 100th and final mission over North Vietnam and is scheduled for a new assignment at Griffiss AFB, N. Y. Major Aunapu, an F-105 Thunderchief pilot with the 388th Tactical Fighter Wing at Korat Royal Thai AFB, Thailand, earned the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal during his tour of combat duty in Southeast Asia.

A 52 Stratofortress pilot before his tour in Thailand, the major spent seven and one-half years in the Strategic Air Command. "Not many heavy bomber pilots get a chance to fly missions in an aircraft like the F-105," he said.

Another mission which sticks in his mind for different reasons was the air strike on which his Thunderchief was hit by ground fire. He was forced to eject just north of the demilitarized zone.

In recalling the event, the major said, "I was mighty glad to see my chute open. Air Rescue helicopters did an outstanding job. They were over me the minute I touched ground; and picked me up within 15 minutes."

At Griffiss, Major Aunapu will again fly the B-52. The major, a graduate of Belle Glade High School, received his commission in 1956 through the aviation cadet program.

Students Talk About LSD

It is a very dangerous drug used by people to escape their hollowness and real life.

Sandy Betts
It is a mind expanding drug and your mind is not to be played with, you are only destroying your own life.

Gail Sullivan
I'm against L.S.D. because it is harmful to your body. I think the majority of students take it out of curiosity or because they cannot cope with their emotional problems. If it was offered to me I would not accept it nor would I advise anyone to take it.

Barbara Meeks
If L.S.D. is used constructively and under supervision it may be able to become a helpful drug, but just taking it for kicks is too dangerous.

Dennis Connell
I think L.S.D. is a mistake and should not be legalized.

Ruben Lademan
I think anyone is a fool to take it, because once taken its effects may recur later.

Arthur Jones
Anyone with sense wouldn't take it because L.S.D. is definitely harmful to the body.

Salinger's Rye

The Modern Huckleberry Finn, Holden Caulfield, instead of being loved for his eccentricities, winds up in a sanitarium under the treatment of a psychoanalyst, in the only published novel of J. D. Salinger, "The Catcher in the Rye."

Holden, a seventeen year old student at Pencey Prep, is racked by the frauds and shames and cruelties that he sees everywhere around him. Partly because of his hypersensitivity and his low threshold for boredom, he flunks out of Pencey, the third prep school he has attended.

After a fight with his roommate over a girl, Holden leaves for New York, hoping to enjoy himself and forget his problems.

While in New York Holden's problems begin to increase. He has a brief meeting with his sister, who convinces him to face his problems and attempt to solve them.

Neither Salinger nor life give any simple answers and in fact, create for both Holden and the reader more questions.

Basketball Season Starts Friday With At-Home Game Vs. Miami

By MARGARET THOMPSON

The Belle Glade High School basketball team will open the season with a home game Friday. They play Miami Military, the Junior Varsity game beginning at 6:30 p.m., and the Varsity at 8 p.m.

Varsity basketball coach, Therrell Luke, said last week it was too early to tell who would be on the starting team, but his material looked good. The Varsity Squad is composed of ten members, which includes five returning Senior lettermen. They are: Quen Wilson, Henry Ronda, Eddie "Tree" McAllister, Ronnie Ratliff, and Rafael Viamonte, a Senior from Coral Park in Miami. Senior Ratted, Capt. Junior Gary Resmondo and Ronnie Brooker, and Sophomores Charles and Stephen Close complete the team. Most of these boys have been practicing since school started, but their first group practice was Monday, Nov. 20.

Coach Jim Pasco is working with the J.V. squad. About twenty boys are out for this team. Coach Luke said Woody Brandon, Dick Loveless, and Phil Brane were playing very well with the J.V.'s.

Homemaking Skills Now Taught In Variety of High School Courses

By KATHY MORRIS

The skills of a homemaker are as modern as the space age and as old as man.

This art is now included in almost every high school curriculum. Today's mother may have learned through many years of experience what their daughters are now gaining from instruction in Home Economics.

The art of using materials available in the new world for building homes and furniture and the cooking of new foods was taught to the Pilgrims by the Indians. This knowledge was handed down to the family from generation to generation.

Home Economics became a course in public schools for the first time in 1821 in Massachusetts. It began in 1944 at the Chicago World's Fair. The United States was impressed with the Russian Home Economics exhibit, and as a result, more effort was put forward in industrializing homemaking. Home Economics principles began to be used in canning foods for public use.

Today most junior and senior high schools have Home Economics courses open to girls and boys. Belle Glade has a wide variety of courses. It offers a course in Housing and Home Furnishing where girls learn the practical planning of homes and learn how to refinish furniture. Another course open to boys and girls is Family Living where they discuss the responsibilities men and women have in dating and marriage relationships. Foods and Nutrition is a course that provides girls with the knowledge of cooking skills needed in preparing balanced meals for the family. In Clothing and Textiles girls learn the good dress designs and colors for them and also how to judge quality materials when sewing. All of these courses provide students with necessary skills for their homes of the future.

The club that is opened to girls interested in furthering their homemaking ability outside their class is the Future Homemakers of America which began in 1944. It promotes interest in homemaking.

Kindergarten Holds Parents Night

Parents of the Community Methodist Kindergarten enjoyed Parents Night, through participation in music and art. Mrs. Curtis Thompson, Jr., told the parents what music should do for the kindergarten child and led the parents in a typical music session with songs and rhythm instruments. Mrs. Graham Page gave most valuable information on "How to Prepare Your Child for First Grade." After a question and answer period the parents went into the kindergarten rooms where they chose an art media—paints, clay, crayons, and collage materials with which to work. Other parents worked table top toys, balanced on the walking beam or crawled through a space tunnel.

A clothes line exhibition of the art work was enjoyed by all following the visit to the rooms. Refreshments were served by the Kindergarten Committee. The next day the children thanked their parents, cleaned radishes and celery to make their own Thanksgiving Feast. It was held in Jameson Hall where they were able to enjoy the art exhibit done by the parents. The children were pilgrim or Indian hats that they had made in class.

Table Service Taught By Mail

UNIVERSITY PARK, PA. — You keep the charm and grace in entertaining when you set the table properly for the occasion. But any doubt you may have about proper table settings can be dispelled easily. One way to do it is through a correspondence course, "Table Service," from The Pennsylvania State University.

Guidelines for setting a table and serving diners, teas, buffets, and luncheons are given in detail. Charts show the proper placing of china, glass, and silver for family and guest service. One section of the course is devoted to the selection and care of table linen and another to table decoration ideas.

Information in each section is clearly stated and easy to follow. You can study the material at your leisure, then keep the course as a handy reference.

To get the complete course, send your name and address with $1.50 to TABLE SERVICE, Box 5000, University Park, Pa., 16802. Make your check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University.

Petitions Ask For Boynton Beach Satellite Courthouse Complex

Four petitions from organized groups in support of a Boynton Beach site for a county "satellite" courthouse complex were accepted by county commissioners Tuesday.

Board Chairman E. F. Van Kessel reported the Boynton Beach backing by the Boynton Beach-Ocean Ridge Board of Realtors, the Junior Women's Club of Boynton, the Boynton Beach Women's Club and the Boynton Beach-Ocean Ridge Republican Club.

A south county courthouse annex will be built with funds earmarked in a $7 million certificate of indebtedness now at the court validation stage. Delray Beach proposed a site for the complex months ago. Boynton Beach City Council recently came up with the second proposal from south county.

The three commissioners at the regular weekly meeting accepted the latest petitions without comment and as a matter of record. Board members George Warren, who represents the southern section of the county, and E. W. (Bud) Weaver of Lake Harbor were absent. Warren was attending a meeting at a new state law which creates a county agricultural zoning board. Weaver was ill.

Support for each of the two south county sites as the location for a "satellite" courthouse annex has been forwarded periodically to the commission, via petitions, resolutions or letter. Both the offices of Boynton Beach and Delray Beach have been taken under advisement.

The south county courthouse annex will serve residents in the same manner as the existing county operation in the Glades.

Commissioners also discussed ways to improve the telephone system at the main courthouse in West Palm Beach for an emergency generator at Palm Beach International Airport.

Board members Dan Gaynor and Edward Bandlow agreed with Van Kessel that improvements should be made if they could be used after renovations and new sections are under way in approximately two years.

Van Kessel, noting that telephone lines especially are tied up just before noon and from 4:15 to 5 p. m., laid some of the blame on personal calls by court-related employees. He said he might write another memo since one he had written recently apparently "didn't mean anything."

The board decided to direct County Engineer George Frost and Administrator Jack Dean to confer with the telephone company and courthouse architect to see if any improvements could be made which could be utilized in the new and renovated building.

In other action, commissioners: —Postponed action on a proposed contract between the county and Florida Board of Forestry for fire control, agreeing to discuss it next week when all board members should be in attendance.

—Agreed to spend $264 to improve street lighting in Lake Ida Park and the Delray Playhouse area.

—Awarded a $23,800 contract to Rao Equipment Co. of West Palm Beach for an emergency generator at Palm Beach International Airport.

—Learned that jury fees for misdemeanor cases, formerly tried in Criminal Court but now in Small Claims Court, may be placed upon the county. The state paid such fees for jurors in Criminal Court, but a recent attorney general's opinion stated that the state will not pay jury fees in Small Claims Court, the board was told.

—The board will consider the proposed contract between the county and Florida Board of Forestry for fire control, agreeing to discuss it next week when all board members should be in attendance.

"Aristocrat of Bands" President I. Garland Hawkins, at Tennessee A&I State University has written to the Lake Shore High School faculty thanking them for recommending Willie David Wrisper, Jr., to that organization. He said:

Mr. Wrisper is our percussion section leader and also a member of our honorary music fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha."

A fine percussionist, Wrisper as a freshman, took over as a Senior office as leader of the section. Hawkins continued:

"Since he has been here, he has brought flashing movements and new ideas to our percussion section which made us tops this marching season. We want you to know that we are proud of him, and appreciate your sending this young man our way. We would appreciate it if you could send many like Mr. Wrisper."

Beauty Tips

You may wear your hair turned under or flipped up, as long as there's enough fullness at the sides to counteract the length of your face. If your forehead is very high, you might want to experiment with bangs or try a side part with a little hair going across the forehead. Just be sure to avoid center parts and styles with too much height, since both of these tend to exaggerate the length of your face.

There are many ways of getting your hair manageable. First you should form the habit of brushing and combing the hair gently. This will give the hair the body it needs to hold a style, and by doing this it will give your hair a vigorous and glossy shine. Wash your hair often as needed and form the habit of setting the hair on rollers.

Experience with these hair tips and others will cause your hair to look attractive and healthy.

Mrs. Marshman
Fete Committee
Honorary Head

The Fete Committee of the Guild to the Science Museum and Planetarium is delighted to announce that Mrs. Homer Marshman, a leader in civic and cultural projects of Palm Beach for many years, is the Honorary Chairman of the 1968 Fete du Soleil which benefits the Science Museum and Planetarium.

Mrs. Marshman was the Chairman of the 1967 St. Mary's Hospital Ball, which was the most successful Ball in the history of Palm Beach.

She is a member of the Board of Trustees of St. Mary's Hospital and also a member of the Board of the Heart Association. She has been listed for ten years in Who's Who in American Women. Although she now spends about eight months of the year in Palm Beach, she still manages to devote time to the Crippled Children's Society and Heart Association in Cleveland.

In accepting the Honorary Chairmanship for the Fete du Soleil which is presented by the Guild of the Science Museum and Planetarium and staged by Burdines, Mrs. Marshman said:

"It is a pleasure to serve as Honorary Chairman of the Fete du Soleil, which benefits the Science Museum and Planetarium, and to observe the fine spirit and community leadership of so many young women who are contributing much of their time to charitable endeavors. The Science Museum and Planetarium is certainly a cultural and educational advantage for the children of our community as well as the adults."

Mrs. Marshman will be honored at a Pattern Reception at the Science Museum and Planetarium December sixth.

The 1968 Fete du Soleil will be held February 6th at Frank J. Hale's Royal Poinciana Playhouse.
